

PdCon09

São Paulo, April 15th 2009

Dear Ryan Jordan,

We are pleased to inform you that you have been accepted to present your work at the Third International Puredata Convention, to be held in Brazil, São Paulo (july 19th-26th).

As in the previous editions in Europe and North America, the event will bring together artists, developers, and theoreticians who develop, use and reflect on Puredata, the open source tool for multimedia programming. PdCon09 consists in an art festival with exhibitions and performances, a symposium with academic papers, diverse courses, and round tables regarding the interests of the community.

Your Performance entitled Sensory Response Systems will help us pursue the goals of the event: Foster the development of Puredata, reflect on the Politics of Free Software, and create an intersection between art and technology. With your presence, participation, and collaboration, we hope to produce one of the largest and most significant events in Latin America for this Area.

Sincerely yours,
Alexandre Torres Porres
